Art Unit: 2615

1. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Gillis, Finlay et al, Watanabe et al, and Warble et al are made of record here as pertinent art to the claimed invention.

Gillis discloses a software amplification system that transforms design information stored in a database into desired software products.

Finlay et al discloses a configurable power amplifier having selective bias control.

Watanabe et al discloses a software defined radio and radio system.

Warble et al discloses a software definable monolithic power amplifier.

2. The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance:

Applicant's amendment and argument filed 05/08/2006 is considered and deemed persuasive to overcome the non-final office action dated 02/09/2006. Updated search was conducted and resulted in four pertinent references as listed in paragraph 1 above. These references disclose different kinds of software definable or simulating amplifier circuits or systems. And none discloses or suggests a software definable pre-amplifier apparatus
